Author Comments Well there's my first 2 game that I've ever finished a programming attempt on. I created a tower defense game. It is a really interesting game I think. It does get challenging, there are bosses at the end of each level which are a lot of fun to fight. Edit: Oh yes, AND IM HAPPY WITH IT! I was really dissapointed that people were so quick to bash it, but I just wanted feedback (Everyone says this at some point lol). It really came down to it. I would get annoyed of how many people were trolling around the site telling me it sucked and not once would they see a constructive discussion about what they saw wrong with it. But anyway, check it out, make sure you rate it and have fun! Thanks for reading! Reviews Rated 2.5

/ 5 stars2006-04-09 14:22:09 good great characters and gameplay. Graphics are a little bit below average, but the style is cool. The music is plain, but fits well. Sound is pretty good all in all, the boss sound however. The bosses sound like the bosses from a game called Super Smash Bros. after you beat that particular one. You could put a little bit more work into the game. There are a lot of features in it that are not really used, and you can reuse a lot of the tiles to make more levels. There is an ASCII sound font that I think would add to the game. You could also download a Sprite sheet from frogstudios. (I'm not really sure, but the levels seem to be pretty similar to each other with the exception of the last two or so. The bosses and all the creatures are the same except for the number. -nice graphics-top notch gameplay-really cool idea-i'd give this a 9.9 -it would have been cool if you could type the key characters when you were playing on the keypad, but i guess its a little too advanced for you -the transition between the different stories/characters could have been better. For some reason, it kind of seems like all the other ones are like mirrors of the first one Rated 4 / 5 stars2006-03-26 23:56:30 Interesting First of all,
