What's new in Elden Ring:

By the time of the events described here, the resistance to the power of the Elden Ring that existed within the Hero's Lineage had at last been dissolved. However, standing before a hero was the son of the former Regent Meer, who was also the object of a brotherhood's unyielding faith—Eren Jaeger. It's a tale of ritual and myth, of who he is and who he came to be. It's the story of Eren Jaeger's awakening. Take a look.

"Eren Jaeger" is a 2013 Japanese animated action drama film that serves as the feature-length to a 37-episode anime television series. Set in the same universe as the series, the film is set 5 years after the end of the anime. A joint project between Kadokawa Pictures and Production I.G., a major media company that produces anime series such as Fairy Tail and Death Note.

Developed by animation studio Production I.G, the film was written and directed by Shinji Ishihira, who is known for the work on the legendary anime series Ghost in the Shell.

The story revolves around the return of anthropomorphic alien beings known as Titans, survivors of an extraterrestrial invasion who arrived on Earth thousands of years ago. In the present day, they suddenly appeared at the edge of humanity's territory and took five people prisoner, only to be chased away by the military. Five years later, five young men from the same class as the first five Titans grow into adulthood and encounter these Titans one day.

That is how Eren was born. Here, he meets the Titans named Gemini, Leopard

Q: How to force flask to reload the wtf forms module with the current file? When I change some code in a wtforms-based form with flask, the form doesn't update in the browser. The only way I'm able to trigger the update is to reload the serving application with a terminal command and then pressing the refresh button. Is there a way to reload the flask app when I change a file with flask? A: You can set initial to true to force the app to reload when the page loads. initial is only for very static forms, like this one: Form(... initial=True)... Modified from here: Costimulation by membrane-bound alkaline phosphatase and soluble CD26 induces activation of the T cell receptor/CD3-mediated pathway in Jurkat T cells. Postinvariant CD4+CD8+ alphabeta thymocytes treated with the selective phosphatase inhibitor levamisol arrest the cell cycle in early G2. This demonstrates that endogenous membrane-bound alkaline phosphatase (AP) is required for nuclear division. AP is also required in place of the T cell receptor (TCR) and CD3 to increase the availability of polyphosphorylated TCR/CD3 complexes to the CD3-mediated pathway. This effect is not exclusive of 3,19-di(acetylthio)-2'3'-dideoxy-4'-thia-beta-d-A N4,9-guanosine (DAG) having a major role, as this effect was also noted with LAD2 human leukemic Jurkat T cells in the presence of DAG. The AP-stimulated increase in the amounts of polyphosphorylated molecules is comparable with that induced by anti-TCR/CD3 mAb, and the stimulation is independent of the type of mAb triggering CD3 in the mAb. The higher
