A nested window allows content to be viewed without blocking out some of the window's content. You can use nested windows for three major purposes: to manage sets of data, layers and tools in any order, to provide a multi-step process that works without distracting users, and to provide a mode for multiple users to make changes at once. The app sports two settings: Move and Scroll Touch Zoom, the latter being able to basically do anything. Allow Touch Zooming can make scrolling in lists and pages a lot simpler, further improving the overall performance of the app. Enable Motion Paths can be used to make shortcuts for common tasks, so you can save time, which keeps your phone from slowing down while you're doing those tasks.
